GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN DENTIS.
The attention of the public is called to a great discovery in Dentistry.

VT. TRANSCRIPT

The attention of the public is called to a great discovery in Dentistry.

THE GREATEST ADVANCE STEP EVER MADE IN THE ABT.

The main difficulty in wearing artificial teeth is, they do not hold in their place firmly enough, and add to this the annoyance of food getting under the plate while eating. I have discovered a method of so constructing the plate on which the teeth are set that they will not start or drop while eating or speaking, neither will any particles of food get under the plate, unmatter what the candition of the month is, which is not true of any method hithertoused.

GEO. B. BULLA JOHN M. ROCKWELL, Y Gro. B. Beth. J. John M. Korkwell. )
It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed, that a perpetual injunction be issued in this suit against the defendants, restraing them from further intelligements of said Patent, No.
51,406, Dated Dec. 5th, 1865, for imprevenients
in cooking stores, pursuant to and in accordance with the prayer of the Bill of Complaint.
Signed A. A. Boyce, Clerk.

The above was instituted for infringement of the Patent securing the manner of fitting the ash pan in the hearth of the American Cooking Stove, and for the combination of the bailed ash pan. We have repeatedly cautioned the as fail. We have repeatedly candonal the public against selling or using stoves with these maprovements not manufactured by us. All persons now selling or using stoves with these improvements in violation of the above injunction, without license from us, will be liale to fine and imprisonment. SHEAR, PACKARD & CO. 205-9m. # KATE'S PROPOSAL.

BY MISS MARAH T. CROSSE,

"You don't dare do it, Kate," laughed Mag Reynolds.

"I'll wager my pearl ring that you'll "back out" of it at the last moment,' cried Sue, Davelin, slipwing the riew, at "Done! exclaimed Kate: "and here is my gold locket in the balance against your ring." She unfastened the locket from the cord around her throat as she spoke, and the ring and locket were laid in the hands of Mag Reynolds, to be held until claimed by the winner.

"Oh of course you say you will, but then we know you won't" they said in Kate Adams thrust her hands in her apron pockets, pursed up her mouth in defiance, and replied-"I dare, and what is more, I will ask him before to-morrow afternoon. Five young ladies were standing in a vine clad arbor in the garden at Judge Adam's residence. Four of them had dared the Judge's daughter, Kate, the wildest romp that ever wore gaiters and long dresses, to take the advantage of the priveliges leap-year affords, to propose to Dick Walton, a rather stately and, as the girls declared, "altogether unapproachable" young gentleman, then visiting, for a few weeks, her father. As the girls matured their

Or on arrival of trains from Boston, Worcester, | cluded that the latter was the best plan. As her form disappeared in the distance, the vines parted, and a young gentle-only girl, and was spoiled in consequence. Not one of her three brothers could ride, hunt, fish, or whistle better than she. And yet when she was in the parlor, there was not one of her young lady friends one whit prettier or more accomplished than Mistress Kate. She danced beautifully, had a magnificent voice, and played and sung superbly; but at the bottom of it all she was a natural born coquette, and flirted wick-edly with her male friends. Dick Walton, after a three weeks' residence under her father's roof, had become des-perately smitten, but knowing her dirting propensities, declined adding himself to her already long string of disconsolate adorers.

Once, in particular, when her father desired her to look uncommonly well, because of a certain elderly personage, whom he wished to call "son-in-law," she astonished them both by appearing before them with her arms akimbo, and a cigar between her lips. The old beau was so discuchanted that he then and there declined the honor of an alliance with Miss Kate, which so enraged her father that he ordered the suitor from the house.

The same day the young lady began her operations on Dick, but he eluded her. If she found him in the parlor, he made some pretext to leave the room. If by chance she met him in the gar-
